VALENTINO GETS LIBERTY MONDAY IN BIGAMY CASE

Film Actor is Found Not Guilty at Preliminary Before Justice.

MARRIAGE IS AIRED

Three Days Spent in Probe Reveals No Stains on Matrimony Record.

(By the Associated Press)
—LOS ANGELES, June 5.—Rodolph Valentino, screen actor, whose principal roles have been of lover-hero, liberated on charges of bigamy here today when the film actor's case was dismissed after a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Handy. The justice ruled there was insufficient evidence presented to support the charges.

The dismissal of the case followed three days of testimony concerning the marriage in Mexicali, Mex., May 13, between Valentino and Miss Winifred Hudnut, and their honeymoon in Palm Springs, Calif., a desert oasis south of here.

The bigamy charge was filed against Valentino by the district attorney here because the marriage occurred before a final decree of divorce was granted Valentino from Jean Acker, film actress, in whose case he was awarded an interlocutory decree last January.

WATSON ASSAILS FOREIGN ENJOYS IN TARIFF ROW

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 5.—The British and Italian ambassadors and other representatives of foreign powers were assailed today in the senate by Senator Watson, republican, Ind., in connection with speeches and statements made by them relating to American tariff and commerce.

Senator Watson asserted that Sir Auckland Geddes in his address in California last March in which he was quoted as urging the use of British vessels in transporting American commerce as one means of a tariff between the United States and Great Britain, "was entirely out of proportion bounds."

The Indiana Senator, one of the majority leaders in the senate, charged there was a foreign propaganda being sent out against the tariff bill and declared that he denied the right of representatives of any foreign government to come to this country "and instruct us in reference to the policies of our government."

Kerr Sounds Civic Appeal For City Convention Hall

A ringing appeal for all civic organizations and public spirited citizens to rally Tuesday to the support of Ada's $110,000 memorial convention hall bond issue was sounded today in behalf of the local national guard units by Capt. Robert Kerr, commanding Battery F.

It follows:

"The people of the city will go to the polls tomorrow and vote on the very important proposition of whether or not they shall build a memorial convention hall.

"In deciding which way to vote on this proposition, an accurate knowledge of what the hall is to cost is one of the big items. The purpose of this article is to show just what the cost is to be and then to show a few of the values of the hall.

"Good Bid Filed on Bonds.

"In the first place the board of commissioners of the city is in receipt of a standing bid—guaranteed by a certified check from a syndicate of bond buyers—offering a $1,300 bonus for the $110,000 bond issue, same to bear interest at the rate of five and one-half percent and to be retired annually after the first five years.

"This is conceded to be the most favorable offer on an issue of bonds made to any city in Oklahoma in the last five years. Based on a 25-year straight 6 percent bond, which is the usual kind issued—this will save the taxpayers of Ada $72,333.25. This kind of service on the part of city commissioners is what makes the commission form of city government popular.

"How It Effects Taxation.

"Based on these figures for the first five years the payments (5 1/2 percent on $110,000) would be $6,500 annually. That would call for a tax levy of 1.1 mills on our present assessed valuation for five and a half million dollars. This would be 11 cents per $100 or $1 on each $1,000 assessed valuation. During the sixth year the interest, $6,950 would have to be paid, plus

$5,000 on the principal. This would call for a 2-mill levy if our assessed valuation continued the same as now. This would be 20 cents per hundred or $2 per $1,000 on assessed valuation.

"Figuring that Ada's assessed valuation will increase one-third during the next five years—which I believe to be a conservative estimate—this would decrease the sixth year's taxes 25 percent or from 20 cents per $100 to 15 cents per $100, and this would gradually decrease each year thereafter as the interest would decrease as the bonds were retired $5,000 each year and as Ada's valuation increased.

"This is an accurate statement as to the cost. Now as to the worth. Is Convention Hall Worth While?

"In the first place we would, in a measure, be paying to those who composed that invincible and all-victorious American army, a debt of gratitude, and to those of that army whose lives were snuffed out on foreign soil the memory of whose supreme sacrifice will live forever and go down in history as the greatest sacrifice ever made by any nation for an ideal. I say that to those, our sacred dead, we would be erecting a monument that would stand thru all the ages to ever remind the generations of the future of America's glorious victory and of our eternal gratitude to those who made that victory possible."

"Second, we would be erecting a building that would provide much needed equipment for all the different civic enterprises—the Chamber of Commerce, the two units of the national guard, the W. C. T. U., and other women's clubs, the Red Cross, the Boy Scouts, the American Legion, and any other civic organizations that may at present exist or be created in the future. The Chamber of Commerce and the national guard units would pay a sufficient rental to provide an adequate maintenance fund for the building.

ARMY OFFICERS MEET TO PROBE DEATH OF BECK

Service Men Dissatisfied With Result of First Court Inquiry

TO CALL WITNESSES

Exoneration of Slaver to Be Protested by U. S. Commission

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, June 5.—The case of the slaying of Lieut. Col. Paul Ward Beck, ranking officer at Post Field, Oklahoma flying station, who was killed by Jean P. Day, wealthy oil man and barrister, in the latter's home here on April 4, was re-opened today when a board of commissioners composed of high officers of the army from Washington, went into executive session in the federal court room here to reveal all the proceedings in the matter.

The officers made no announcement as to their plans although it was understood that a number of witnesses would be summoned.

Day, who admitted that he struck the officer a blow on the head when he returned to his home and found Mrs. Day struggling against Beck's advances, was exonerated by a coroner's jury and no charges were ever filed against him.

Report Kept Secret.

A report forwarded to the secretary of war by an army board of inquiry from Post Field which sat during the coroner's inquest was never made public. In some quarters it was believed that the war department officials were dissatisfied with the coroner's verdict.

The board probably will remain here for several days, and a report of its finding will be forwarded to Secretary Weeks. It was understood.

It was convened by special order of the war department and is composed of the following: Lieut. Col. Fred P. Austin, Lieut. Col. Louis T. Boiesau, Lieut. Col. Arthur N. Whaley, Major Archibald Arnold, and Major Thomas G. Lanthier. Major Lanthier succeeded Beck as commandant at Post Field.

After a short discuss during the forenoon the board adjourned, giving no intimation as to what might be expected from its deliberations. Each member of the board has been assigned to a different angle of the case, it was said, and nothing will be made public until the work is completed.

RODOLPH HAD RIGHT TO MARRY AGAIN

Jean Acker.

Rodolph Valentino.

Rodolph Valentino may pursue his matrimonial course in peace.

The Los Angeles courts held so today at the completion of a preliminary examination in which the screen actor was charged with bigamy. It was alleged that Valentino lived with Miss Winifred Hudnut as his wife before the final decree of divorce was granted him from Gene Aker, screen actress.

Madame Alla Nazimova, a Russian film star, was one of principal witnesses at the hearing. She was said to have been the original of a photograph introduced into the records as a member of the Valentino wedding party at Palm Springs, Cal. on May 13.

British Troops Fire Upon Sinn Fein Who Refuse to Evacuate

(By the Associated Press)
BELFAST, June 5.—Further details of the fight between British and Irish republican troops at Pettigo show that a British staff officer entered the village and gave the republicans 15 minutes in which to leave. About 100 decided to stay.

At the expiration of the period of grace the British advanced. As they crossed a bridge leading into the town they were met by a volley of machine gun fire. The fire was returned and a battery posted on a nearby hill fired four shells at the Sinn Feiners. One struck in the middle of a party inflicting several casualties. During the night attack some recently landed British troops struck the Republican forces in the rear, causing a hasty retreat.

STUDENTS READY TO STAGE MIXER

Summer Session Visitors To Revel Tonight in Campus Program

East Central's annual student mixer, given during the summer sessions for the purpose of getting students better acquainted and drawing them into a closer unity, is scheduled for tonight. A committee was looking after the arrangements of the affair today and last reports were that this year's event would be better than ever before. College students only are invited.

The affair will be held on the college athletic field beginning at 7:30. Music will be furnished by the high school band and students of the physical training classes will render a program of dances. Refreshments will be served.

Contests will be a feature. Each county in the district will have a booth on the field, and around this booth students from the different counties will gather. An extra booth will be provided for students from other states and counties not in East Central district.

The Palm Garden, Coffman, Bobbitt & Sparks, Model, Hensler & Story, Simpsons, Gwin & Mays, Burks, McSwain, Stevens-Wilson, Wozencrefts and Coon's have offered prizes to the various winners in contests. A grand march probably will be held also.

Committee members stated this morning that every effort will be made to get each student acquainted with as many others as possible. Any student or faculty member of the college will be welcome. Citizens will be granted the privilege of watching the affair from the parkage.

Ten Automobiles to Run All Day in Each Ward To Serve Public.

Forty cars have been volunteered to carry voters to and from election booths tomorrow to vote upon the $110,000 bond issue proposed for the building of a memorial convention hall.

Colorado Enjoined From Taking Water From Laramie River

WASHINGTON, June 5.—An injunction instituted by Wyoming to prohibit Colorado from taking water from the Laramie river was granted today by the supreme court to the extent of restraining Colorado from using an amount of water in excess of the amount fixed by the court and estimated as a surplus of 15,000 acre feet, as meeting the requirements of Colorado.

The objection of Colorado to adoption of appropriation of the water of the Laramie river by Wyoming was rejected by the court. Justice Vandever stated that the doctrine of appropriation prevailed in both states and must be respected.

Stay of Execution For Phillips Sent To McAlester Today

(By the Associated Press)
MCALISTER, June 5.—Prison officers have received an order for a stay of execution for J. W. Phillips, slayer of a Tishomingo officer. Phillips was recently convicted at Atoka where the case was tried on a change of venue, and given the death penalty. The state court of criminal appeals granted the stay for Phillips, now confined in the death row, until his trial records can be reviewed.

RAILROADS MUST PAY FOR LOSS TO OWNERS

RICHMOND, Va., June 5.—Coal seized by the railroads while in transit during the war must be compensated for on a basis of the loss to the owners because of confiscation and not on the basis of the cost of the coal at the mines or on the trains, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals held in an opinion announced by Justice Martin A. Knapp in which Judge C. A. Woods concurred.

Memorial Hall Paramount Need of City

(Editorial)

Will the Memorial Hall become a reality tomorrow?

The citizens will decide this at the polls. Ada will go forward a step in her place among cities or will stand wavering between advancement and retrogression.

A city is just as progressive as its average citizen. The individuals who conduct a business make, break or leave it unaltered, and in much the same way towns are built from small beginnings to cities of power and beauty. It is true and cannot be otherwise that the citizens of a town well located, can make from it a city, in time proportional to the concentration and unity of purpose which moves them.

A progressive step is to be decided tomorrow.

There are many sound reasons why Ada should have a memorial hall; many of these reasons have been enumerated before.

One. Such a memorial will be a lasting and practical monument to the local boys who fell in France. At the same time it will serve as a convention hall for visiting conventions, thus being one of the best and most effective advertising agencies for Ada that could be devised. The monetary value of conventions to a city is well known.

Two. It will afford a meeting place for large local gatherings, many more of which will occur in the future with a convenient place for such things.

Three. It will furnish a permanent and suitable home for the two national guard units which not only afford revenue for the city and patriotic training for the youth, but is within itself an advertising force not to be over looked. These units will be lost to other towns if adequate quarters are not obtained.

Four. It will afford a central location for all municipal organizations and activities, such as the Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, civic clubs, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and the City Athletic Association.

Five. The Teachers College and High School Athletic associations will have a central location for indoor athletic contests and events.

Six. It will provide a home for the American Legion.

The taxes necessary to make the memorial a reality will be insignificant along side the enjoyment and good of such a building. It is worth much to have the satisfaction of living and being a part of an up-to-date, progressive and growing city whose attractiveness is ever bringing new townsmen within our portals, to lessen and bear with us the obligations we create in making Ada a superior place to live.

We have it in our power to go forward! Let's step on!

Regular meeting of the Lions Club will be held at the Harris Hotel Tuesday forenoon at 11:15. Members are urged to attend. A small reception committee has been appointed and will receive badges through the mail. Every one receiving a badge should be on hand, as special duties have been assigned.

BIBLE THOUGHT OF TODAY

RIGHTEOUSNESS BRINGS PEACE:—The work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness, quietness and assurance for ever. And my people shall dwell in a peaceable habitation, and in sure dwellings, and in quite resting places.—Isaiah 32:17, 18.

THE EUROPEAN SITUATION

According to the view of Frank H. Simonds, who gained fame during the war for his analysis of the military situation in all of its varying turns, and who since that time has written extensively on the political and economic situation, Lloyd George came away from the Genoa conference badly worsted while France was left in the saddle holding the whip hand in European affairs. Naturally the interests of Great Britain clashed with those of other nations and it was a game of every fellow for himself. England must depend largely on her foreign trade to exist at all and to this end she has been eager to reopen relations with Russia and Germany, giving the latter considerable leeway in the matter of reparations and other features laid down by the Versailles treaty. However, France has not worried so much about the unemployment problem in Great Britain and the necessity of restoring British trade as she has about the possibility of future trouble with Germany. In this she has been backed by most of the smaller nations and Lloyd George had a poor chance to win anything at Genoa. France is the main show on the continent because she has the strongest army, as Simonds sees it, hence the smaller nations are attracted to the ally who is most capable of affording protection in the event of trouble.

THE MEMORIAL HALL.

Tomorrow Ada voters will say whether or not an issue of bonds shall be made for the purpose of erecting a convention hall to the boys who carried the Stars and Stripes across the battlefield of Europe. When they left their homes the boys were assured that the country would not forget and that nothing was too good for them. They have returned and now the public has an opportunity of paying a small installment on the debt due these veterans by giving them a permanent home for their organization.

Another side to be considered is the need of a hall of sufficient capacity to accommodate a large assemblage of citizens or convention. Few towns in Oklahoma approximating the size and taxable values of Ada have failed to provide themselves with a convention hall or meeting place of some kind. It is in this respect, that Ada can be considered behind and now the opportunity is presented to make this good. What will the answer be?

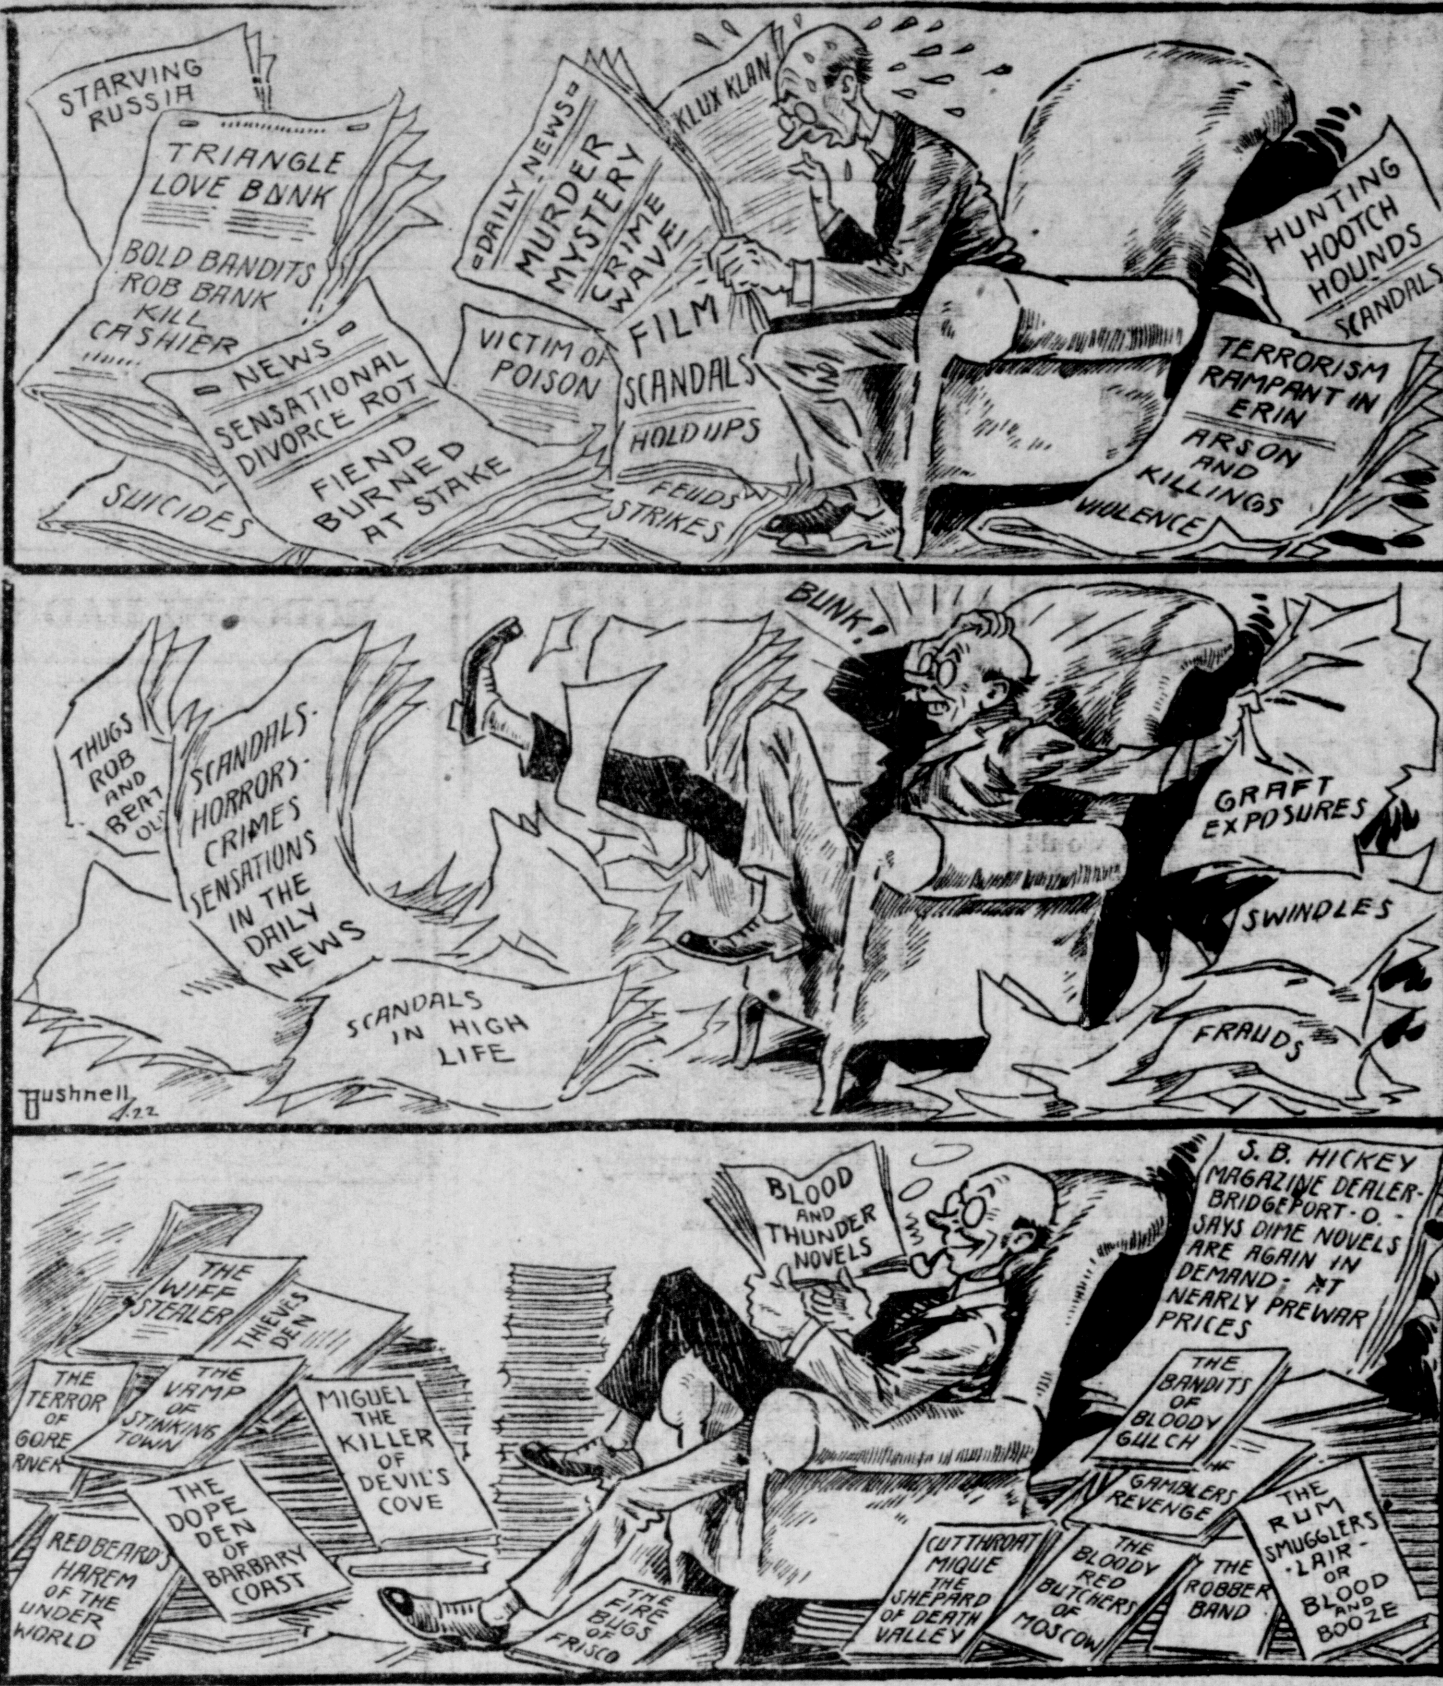

As an example of how a tariff schedule may have a kick back a bulletin issued by the National City Bank of New York mentions the Fordney law which sought to bar out foreign cattle by placing a heavy duty on such importations. Canada raises large numbers of cattle and a good many of these had been shipped into the United States every year to be fattened with corn of which comparatively little is raised in Canada. The Fordney bill put a stop to this and as a consequence a large surplus of corn was left on hand last season and the price fell accordingly. Had it been possible to feed the cattle on this corn it would have been more in demand and the growers would have profited accordingly. It is doubtful if cattle growers were specially benefitted, for this country is an exporter of meat products, but if they did receive any benefit it was offset by the lower price of corn, so after all it was at best only a standoff.

Crooks thrive in office and politics because the memory of the public is short. The people may be ready to lynch a crook today and a year hence so far forget his misdeeds that they will hail him as a friend and put him back into power. The career of Tammany Hall in running the government of New York city is a case in point. The public occasionally becomes so indignant at the graft that is known to exist that Tammany is overthrown at an election, but never yet has it suffered two successive defeats. By the time the next election rolls around the people have forgotten and permit the tiger to return to his interrupted feast.

That the world is settling down to business and conditions are improving is evidenced by the rise in exchanging rates of foreign countries when measured by the American dollar. With the exception of Germany, the currencies of all countries has advanced in value, evidencing an increase in trade and growing confidence in the stability of the finances of those nations. Germany continues to issue paper currency by the bale, hence the value of the mark has dropped almost to the vanishing point.

Since Pinchot's victory in Pennsylvania the Old Guard has raised its voice in opposition to the primary system, urging a return to the good old days of the convention. However, it is not likely that the people will ever consent to this maneuver. When the conventions made nominations the people had little voice in the matter for the simple reason that the bosses were thoroughly organized and the rank and file were not. Hence a convention was a mere formality, a few bosses wielding all the real power.

Community Get-Together Meetings

(Duncan Eagle)
In some country towns the plan of community banquets is proving popular, one purpose being to welcome newcomers. Newly arrived people in a place feel like a cat in a strange garret. They are outside of existing circles and they think that the people are not interested in them. But if they see that the old residents welcome them and want to make life in the community pleasant for them a feeling of loyalty and satisfaction is developed. They are likely to remain permanently. Any such general gathering also has a wonderful effect to break up cliques and encourage community movements.

A community supper held once a year, primarily to introduce and welcome newcomers, would be a fine thing for Duncan. A committee would be appointed to give strangers the glad hand and see that they were well introduced. With a program of entertainment the occasion would be memorable and would attach people to our splendid community life.

An Old Disease and an Old Remedy.

(Chickasha Express)
No matter how absurd his doctrines may be, the smooth-tongued speller, with an appeal to emotionalism, never fails to draw a sympathetic crowd on the streets. He may be selling patent medicines, or he may offer political nostrums, or he may be organizing some sort of society to save the country from destruction; it's all the same; if he is skilled in sophistry, he'll get away with it.

In every political campaign since the days of George Washington—or even from the time of Adam, for that matter—slick politicians, with radical proposals, have come forward with promises to cure all the ills of the body politic, making their pleas so cunning that they have never failed to secure a following. This sort of thing is by no means confined to the wild-eyed reformers who launch new political movements but is just as frequently practiced by the candidates of the old parties. The making of promises which are impossible of performance is one of the means deemed necessary to get the votes that will oust the "ins" and install the "outs." For example, as a candidate, Mr. Harding made many more promises than he is able to carry out as president. And it is also a well-known fact that when even the most radical parties gain power they tend to come down, becoming conservative. The politician is not seriously inconvenienced by his promises until he is defeated and then he finds that statesmanship is a very different game from vote-getting.

An old, old disease is the mental state which makes it possible for the demagogue and the highly promising politician to find fertile soil in which to sow his seed, and nothing but an old, old remedy will help it. The remedy is nothing less than education of the broadest and most practical sort, particularly in the fields of government, economics and social questions. Until one has more than the smattering knowledge of political and economic questions gained from the cursory reading of papers and magazines, he is not qualified to weigh and analyze the specious pleas of the propagandist and to see the sophistry in his plausible arguments. One may be well educated for his business, trade or profession and may be highly successful in it but at the same time lack the knowledge which is necessary to fit him for efficiency as a citizen. Even the college graduate who has specialized in some selected field may not be qualified to deal intelligently with the questions which confront him as a citizen. The cure for demagoguery is intelligence. Democracy cannot be completely successful until every citizen has a comprehension of political, economic and social questions equal to that of those who pose as leaders.

Rightly viewed, education is now, as it has always been, the most vital issue confronting our people. "My people have gone into captivity because they have no knowledge," said the old Hebrew prophet. We shall continue captives, prey to deceiving politicians and propagandists who play upon ignorance and prejudice, until our shackles are removed by the kind of education which really educates.

The Parole System.

(Ardmoreite)
The Okmulgee Times, guilty of a little partisanship perhaps and perhaps actuated to some extent by simon-pure motives, wonders if the fate that befell Henry Starr and Paul Hadley after the two were let out on parole, does not prove that the parole system is wrong. Starr, it must be remembered, died in a gun battle following his parole, while Paul Hadley slew a man and is now under sentence of death.

The Ardmoreite fails to follow the Okmulgee Times process of reasoning. Because cake makes a boy sick is no reason that cake is not nourishing. We cannot assume that prohibition is a failure, merely because some old stew-head gets hold of a bottle of corn liquor now and then. Neither is it logical to assume that all business is hazardous because there is a failure now and then.

Governor Robertson, the Ardmoreite believes, has prostituted the pardon and parole system, but we must not be led into a reaction that will destroy the humanitarian efforts of a decade.

There are men who walk straight and live right after serving prison sentences, even though those sentences are abbreviated because of good behavior.

THREE MEN DEAD AT DANCE FIGHT

Officer Tries to Disarm Unruly Mexican and Rattle Ensues

(By the Associated Press)
BROWNSVILLE, June 5.—Three men are dead at Los Ondios, Cameron county, following an attempt by Deputy Sheriff Carpenter to disarm Martin George at a Mexican dance Sunday.

The officer asked George to surrender his pistol and the latter, stepping forward as if to comply, shot Carpenter in the abdomen. Carpenter drew his gun and each man, holding to the other, emptied their pistols into each other's body. Both were dead when the smoke cleared away.

Andres Perez, believed to have tried to assist Carpenter in preserving the peace at the dance, was later found dead about 100 yards from the scene of the shooting with a bullet through his head and two empty shells in his pistol. It is not known who fired the shots that killed the man.

'Frisco' Vernon Delivers His First Victory of Season to Ada

Brown's Indians Give Local Team Little Trouble Sunday In Grabbing Victory 7 to 3

Frisco Vernon delivered his first victory of the season to the Ada Independents yesterday with but one bad inning, which allowed three runs. Ada's hits were timely and she consistently pounded Brown's Indian club for a 7 to 3 victory. This is the second game Vernon has pitched this year. He lost the first to Chickasha's league team several weeks ago. His support in the field yesterday was better than it has ever before been.

Paul Young was in his best form yesterday, working perfect in the field. His old eagle eye for hitting got to working again in the Indian game and out of five trips to the plate, he soaked out four nice singles. This is the best batting for one game any Ada man has done this season.

Although Vernon allowed ten hits, he kept them well enough scattered to prevent the Indians from getting a chance to win. Ada won the game in the fourth frame when Long was knocked from the box. He allowed three hits and four runs in this inning. Long was wild and walked four men.

Cover, star catcher for Ada last year, was behind his mask again yesterday for the first time this season. He was in the old swing and not only caught a good game but added a single and a double to the local club's hitting.

Due to the fact that yesterday's game was slow, sprinkled with errors, no double plays were made. The game by innings:

First Inning.
Indians—Miller was hit by a pitched ball; Brown took first on R. Wanner's error, Miller going to second; Wano singled, advancing Miller and Brown; Toliver retired on strikes; Vernon got himself out of a hole when Miller was out at home, Fain to Cover, and when LaClair fouled out to Rutledge. No runs, one hit, one error.

Second Inning.
Indians—Bolan retired on strikes; Long went the same route; Factor was out, Young to Rutledge. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third Inning.
Indians—Miller flew out to Morrison; Brown flew out to Rutledge. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning.
Indians—Toliver struck out; Campbell was out, Vernon to Rutledge; LaClair was out, Fain to Rutledge. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning.
Indians—Bolan singled; Long singled; Factor fouled out to Cover; Miller singled to center field, with Bolan out at third, West to Young; Brown flew out to Fain. No runs, three hits, one error.

Sixth Inning.
Indians—Wano was out, Young to Rutledge; Toliver flew out to Morrison; Campbell singled; LaClair was hit by a pitched ball; Bolan singled to center field; Campbell scored on West's overthrow at home; LaClair scored on Rutledge's overthrow to Young; Long singled, scoring Bolan; Factor singled; Factor was caught off second; Vernon to Fain. Three runs, four hits, two errors.

Seventh Inning.
Indians—Miller struck out; Brown was out, R. Wanner to Rutledge; Wano singled, and was out trying to stretch it into a double. Cover to Fain. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Ada—Rutledge singled; McMillan running for Rutledge, MacMillan stole second; Vernon struck out; Cover doubled, scoring McMillan; West whiffed. One run, one hit, no error.

Eighth Inning.
Indians—Toliver out, R. Wanner to Rutledge; Campbell singled; LaClair was safe at first, forcing Campbell, Vernon to Fain; Bolan walked, LaClair advancing; Long whiffed. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Ada—Morrison doubled; R. Wanner flew out to Factor; Young singled, scoring Morrison; P. Wanner going to second on the play; Rutledge flew out to LaClair. No runs, two hits, one error.

Ninth Inning.
Indians—Factor flew out to R. Wanner; Miller was out, Vernon to Rutledge; Brown fouled out to Rutledge. No runs, no hits, no errors.

ROWING GROWS TO POPULARITY AT MINNESOTA

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., June 5.—With one of the finest two-mile courses in the country available, rowing enthusiasts of the University of Minnesota are taking a keen interest in developing that aquatic sport. Although not recognized as a major sport at the University, the students, many of whom have indulged in the oar game before coming to Minnesota, are developing informally into competent "shellmen."

Fred Luehring, director of athletics at the university, is a staunch advocate of the sport, but many handicaps, such as financial assistance for equipment precludes adding the rowing game to the sport program for the present at least, he said.

"The university has available, however, one of the finest straight-away two mile courses in the country," declared Mr. Luehring. "It extends from the Lake Street bridge here to the government dam, and is an ideal course for the Henly event of 1-1/2 miles or the 1-7/8 miles stretch, which is quite a favorite in intercollegiate contests."

Director Luehring, however, predicts that rowing will attach itself to Minnesota sports in the coming years, inasmuch as the state has 10,000 lakes and several rivers, on which good rowing courses can be used.

With the University of Wisconsin recently lifting the ban from intercollegiate rowing, agitation probably will bring the matter here before the proper authorities with a view to having adopted as a major sport here.

CONFEREES DISAGREE ON NEW STATE CHAIRMAN
(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 5.—The conference between Senator Pepper or Pa., and Major David A. Reed, republican nominee to succeed Senator Crow, and Gifford Pinchot, republican nominee for governor of Pa., to select a new republican state chairman, was declared by one of the conferees to have ended in "friendly disagreement and the matter will be taken to the meeting of the state committee Saturday in Philadelphia."

The conversion of the bible into English took 3 years, 1607-1611.

FLOWERS PROVE HOODOO, AS USUAL, WHEN BABE RUTH RETURNS TO GAME

One of the little movie queens presenting Ruth with the floral gift before the game.

No one could really expect Babe Ruth to hit his old stride on his first appearance in the game after his six weeks' layoff at the request of Commissioner Landis. For just before the start of the game in which Babe made his debut Ruth received a big floral gift. It was from the National Vaudeville Artists. The little Lee girls, famous in the movies and vaudeville, presented it to Babe. And no ball player is expected to get a hit—let alone a homer—after receiving a present. Babe went hitless.

COLLEGE'S GRID PROGRAM READY

Coach Anticipating New Material and Makes Season Light

Coach Thompson has practically completed his football schedule for 1922, and three dates have been left open to be given to schools in the state conference. Anticipating new material, he has not scheduled many hard games. This will be the safest for a new team, it is believed, as last year's squad was forced to disband on account of being overtaxed.

He did not state what his prospects for a team were next season, but said that considerable experienced material would be here upon which to build a squad. He will be handicapped in organizing his team, as practically all of last year's men have had only a season of experience. The schedule follows:

Oct. 6—O. B. U. at Ada.
Open date.
Oct. 17—O. C. C. at Ada.
Oct. 27—Open date.
Nov. 4—Central at Edmond.
Nov. 17—Weatherford at Weatherford.
Nov. 24—Open date.
Nov. 30—Durant at Durant.

MONTEGGOFF WILL MEET TEXAN FOR FINISH TONIGHT

Ed Smith, heavyweight wrestler, was due to arrive in the city this afternoon from Denison, Texas, to meet Bob Montegoff, Allen giant, on the mat here this evening for a finish match under auspices of Norman Howard post of the American Legion.

The engagement will be held in the old Sudden Service Garage building and will be preceded by two fast boxing preliminaries. Smith is said to be one of the strongest contenders for the Texas heavyweight belt and is being counted upon by many local fans to give for his money. Montegoff has finished his training in good form and will be accompanied here late this afternoon by a crowd of about 65 Allen sport lovers who are backing him to the limit as a champion.

Ladies will be admitted to the bout tonight at half price. Seats have been installed in the building and everything is in readiness for the exhibition. Charles Johnson, Legion sport manager, declared this afternoon.

REPUBLICANS PREPARE TO DEFEND TARIFF BILL

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 5.—Republican senate leaders have determined to explain and defend the general trade tariff bill in general debate in the senate. Senator Watson, republican, Ind., announced today in opening the first of a series of addresses which is planned for the next few weeks.

KERR SOUNDS CIVIC APPEAL

"Third, the hall would provide an adequate auditorium for all community gatherings and one that is centrally located and equally accessible to all. The graduating classes of both the East Central State Teachers College and the high school, together with all other activities of these institutions that are attended by the public would be held in this building. The auditorium could be used for revivals, political gatherings and for other meetings usually attended by large numbers.

Bring State Meetings to City.

"Lastly, in addition to adding another beautiful structure to Ada's architectural landscape, this convention hall would make possible the holding of state, national and other conventions in the city of Ada. To be known as a convention city is one of the most valuable assets that a city can have. The usual convention is for four days and an average attendance is around 3,000. If you have ever attended a convention you know that $5 per day is as little as you can get by on at all, and, if you buy anything for the kiddies or other folks at home, as you usually are expected to do, $25 would be a conservative estimate of what would be spent by each of the 3,000 delegates in the four days in Ada. Multiply this by the number of delegates and you have $75,000 spent in Ada as a result of one convention. We have a convention here this fall that will bring some 3,500 members of the I. O. O. F. to Ada and there are a number of other conventions that wanted to come this year, among which are the American Legion which is attended by 7,500 men and lasts a week. The Baptist state convention, the W. C. T. U. state convention and others could have been held here this year if we could have furnished them a place to meet.

"Say that we had six such conventions here annually—and that is a low estimate considering the number of conventions held and the progressive capable citizenship of Ada that would see that we had our share of the conventions held in Oklahoma—you can easily see how much this would be worth to Ada.

Materials are Cheap Now.

"Now, just a word as to the depression and hard times. Do you realize that this is the best time possible to build? The cheapness of material, the fine spirit of co-operation on the part of the labor organizations of Ada both as to decreased rates for this job and as to quality of service rendered, makes this the opportune time to build. "Considered all in all this is the most needed, the least expensive and the most valuable of any enterprise that the citizens of Ada could undertake and this is the most appropriate time for the work."

College Campus

Dr. Thomas H. Briggs, dean of education at Columbia University, New York, has arrived in the city and beginning today he will deliver each day from the hours of 3 to 4 o'clock, special lectures to students of the college. He will be here for a week to give his special lectures. Students who have expressed interest are admitted to the lecture room. The students who will hear this noted education will be mostly those of the advance divisions. He will also hold conferences with certain groups of students.

All classes were meeting regularly today and for the first time since school opened a week ago all conflicts were eliminated. Only routine school business was on hand and the greater part of the student body was looking forward to the remaining eight weeks of school with interest.

Miss Emma Keller, head of the music department, states that her classes are well filled and that the college chorus has already started regular practice. She has both a girls' and boys' chorus with large enrollments.

Prof. A. L. Fentem, formerly principal of Ada high school, now head of the orchestra classes of the college, reports satisfactory progress with his department. In keeping with the increased enrollment, his classes in instrumental music have also increased. He expects to have one class able to deliver concerts before the end of the session.

Coach Thompson reports increasing interest in his class on the theory of coaching. As football will be the first athletic game to be taken up with the opening of fall schools, he is stressing the importance of coaching this sport. Practical demonstrations are being given at 7 o'clock each day on the athletic field and are being appreciated by the members of this class—except those who were given a practical demonstration of tackling.

Training School.
Prof. R. R. Robinson, head of the college training school, said this morning that not only was his division overcrowded but that there were enough students on his waiting list to practically fill the classes again, were those now attending school taken away.

Applications are being received already for places in the training school, it is reported. Students wanting to enroll in the school are asking ahead of time for places, since the summer session has seen so many turned away.

Although there are many youngsters enrolled in the training school, that does not include all the story. Prof. Robinson said. He explained that in addition to absolute capacity enrollment of students, he had 78 practice teachers, with an efficient force of critic supervisors.

The training school holds sessions from 8 to 12 each day. In addition to study and recitation periods, the students are given a recess for play. Playground exercises are supervised by practice teachers.

Dr. Antonette Louisa Brown Blackwell was the first ordained woman minister in the United States.

ANTI TRUST LAW HOLDS ON LABOR

Supreme Court Submits Opinion in Colorado Coal Case Today

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 5.—Labor organizations are not exempt from prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust law, the supreme court announced.

The court delivered such an opinion in the celebrated Coronado Coal case, one of the most important pieces of labor litigation ever before the nation's highest tribunal.

The court held that labor organizations can be held liable for property damages brought about by acts of its members, during strikes. The decision was delivered by Chief Justice Taft.

With respect to the U. M. W. of A., the court found that the international organization and its officers did not order the strike or ratify it, and that they cannot be made parties to a suit.

Discussing the details of the strike, Chief Justice Taft said the evidence shows that violation was purely an unprovoked attack under the guidance of district union officials.

Big Principle Involved.

The "Coronado Case" was the name applied to one of the most famous proceedings to reach the supreme court within recent years. Its fame arose not only from the long period it remained on the docket but from its importance, involving as it did the question of whether organized labor as represented in the United Mine Workers of America could be prosecuted under the Sherman Anti-Trust Law for restraint of interstate commerce resulting from strikes.

The Coronado and Associated coal companies of Arkansas instituted in the United States District Court for Arkansas civil proceedings against the United Mine Workers to recover treble damages under the Sherman Act for property losses suffered by them during a strike in the Arkansas coal fields in 1914. The coal companies alleged that the United Mine Workers had unlawfully conspired to suppress non-union competition, and that the destruction of the property had been resorted to, with attendant restraint of interstate commerce, to accomplish that end.

The decision of the court dismissing the suit was set aside by the United States circuit court of Appeals for the eighth circuit, and in the same court, on second trial, before a different federal judge, the jury found that the destruction of the mine property was due to a conspiracy to prevent the mining of coal by non-union labor, and had resulted in a restraint of interstate commerce. The jury placed actual damages at $200,000, which were trebled by the court under the Sherman law. The award, affirmed by the circuit court of appeals, was brought to the supreme court by the labor unions on the ground that being incorporated they could not be sued.

Hawaiians Will Keep Alive Plans of Leader for Race Betterment

(By the Associated Press)

HONOLULU, T. H.—The wishes of the late Prince Jonah Kūhiō Kalanianoʻe, Hawaii's delegate to congress for twenty years, regarding the conduct and lives of his people will be carried out by members of the Puuhonua society, founded by a group of leading Hawaiians, according to resolutions adopted at the organization meeting.

The first endeavor of the society will be to obtain $150,000 by public subscription to found the "Kūhiō Endowment Fund" for the higher education of Hawaiian youths, to assist older persons to obtain lands, to aid in the establishment of hospitals and schools and to act as an eleemosynary, educational and philanthropic organization for the native race.

"Ten Commandments" were laid down for the conduct of Hawaiians. They consisted of advice that had been given by the late Prince, and read:

"Thou shalt Americanize Hawaii and keep alive the American institutions in this, thy native country. The burden is upon you. The other races come and go, whereas we are born only to die—we have no longings for other places.

"Thou shalt love thy race and love thy land or you will be an outcast. You must be a true Hawaiian before you can become a true American.

"Thou shalt conserve the lands for the race and incidentally for thy posterity.

"Thou shalt support the Hawaiian homes commission in making a survey on the land of Hawaii.

"Thou shalt provide financial assistance for the education and the broadening of thy boys and girls on the mainland. The competition is keen and will be more so in the future.

"Thou shalt strive to control the production of the foodstuffs and prepare thine own poi from taro cooked at thy home.

"Thou shalt increase thy birth-rate and strive to bring many children to healthy manhood and thereby decrease thy death-rate.

"Thou shalt in thine own life be frugal and temperate and work to increase thy material welfare and that of thy family.

"Thou shalt support and abide by the laws, enforcing prohibition of the manufacture and use of intoxicating liquor. Liquor has retarded the advance of our race. Our increase is hopeful with liquor out of the way.

"Thou shalt 'stop, look and listen' and take an active interest and a full part in the government of thy native land. Thou must ever keep alive with the times."

B. Scheinberg left for the east Sunday to buy goods for the several stores now in operation. This makes the third for this state, the other two being here and at Henryetta.

RULING MARKETS MUST BE CURBED

Women Are Responsible For Stopping Dominance, Speaker Declares

EMPORIA, Kan., June 2.—America must give its attention to certain great dominant markets and the women of America may signalize the suffrage which they have won by a single act—by leading in the restoration of the principle of public interest over those dominant markets, Victor Murdock, member of the Federal Trade Commission today told the Women's City Club of Emporia, Kansas.

"The tendency of many of our greater markets is to concentration and the creation of points where 'the market is made' for the whole nation," he said. "Some of these dominant markets, as in the case of the larger terminal markets for country produce, are wastefully inadequate in area and facilities. Again certain markets for other types of commodities seek to avoid any public supervision—as the grain markets. The New York Exchange, a national, in fact a world market for securities, is not even incorporated.

Women Greatest Buyers.

"It is obvious that more and more the women of America are becoming the agents of the consuming public. They form the greatest buying legion in the world. Their task is to throw over the dominant market places of this country promote a greater measure of public supervision, to restore to machinery of those markets the essential element of public interest which in English-speaking countries has been more or less neglected and defeated for centuries.

"I believe that America will eventually resume closer supervision of dominant markets. This does not mean, of course, government price fixing, or government buying and selling of wares or government acquisition of all markets. It does mean that the market shall be free and conducted in recognition of the fact that a dominant market is affected by a fundamental public use and its sole control should not be left in the hands of any individual or set of individuals incorporated or unincorporated.

"To extend the public interest further over the dominant national markets to the end that they shall function equitably for producer, consumer, distributor and consumer is a task for all of us.

America Leads.

"I feel the public-spirited women of America may well lead the way. Involved in the problem are fair prices and stabilization of commerce. We are given to looking upon price as the product, in theory at least, of supply and demand. But supply and demand do not produce a fair price unless they are permitted to have contact. It is the public's affair and the women of America, daily more skilled by personal contact, as buyers, with economic problems, have the opportunity to see to it that the public shall have part in the machinery of the market."

WAR MESSENGER IS RECOGNIZED AFTER 24 YEARS

(By the Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO.—Lieutenant Colonel Andrew S. Rowan, retired, the man who carried the famous "Message to Garcia" in 1898, during the Spanish-American war, will receive a belated recognition for bravery, if Senator Samuel F. Shortridge of California can bring it about. The Senator has received assurances from Secretary of War Weeks that he will take up with the army board having jurisdiction the granting of a medal or of a distinguished service cross.

Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles ordered young Lieutenant Rowan to deliver a "message to Garcia." Discretion, initiative and bravery were required. Rowan did not ask who Garcia was, where he could be found, or how to get there. Instead he delivered the message to General Garcia, in the interior of Cuba, where Garcia with his little band of patriots was almost surrounded by Spanish forces. Rowan knew that if the message were intercepted by the Spaniards he would be shot or hanged as a spy.

Garcia, heartened by the promise of aid from the United States, just entering the war, with Spain, fought on, and the foe was overcome.

Lieutenant Rowan was cited by General Miles in dispatches to Washington as follows:

"This was a most perilous undertaking, and in my judgment Lieutenant Rowan performed an act of heroism and daring that has rarely been excelled in the annals of warfare."

Rowan was appointed lieutenant colonel of volunteers, and in 1908 was retired from the regular army with the rank of major. He resides in San Francisco.

Lincheid Refuses Special Assemblies During Summer Term

Information was given out from president's office this morning that due to the large enrollment at the college no special assemblies will be held, nor will there be any kind of assembly except on rare occasions during the summer session, according to an official statement from Dr. Lincheid, head of the institution. Following is his statement:

"A number of meritorious organizations have asked that special assembly be called at the Teachers College. It becomes necessary to state that it will be impossible to call these assemblies, even if their purpose is most praiseworthy. Special assemblies cannot be called for the following reasons:

"First, Our auditorium will not seat over twelve hundred people; there are seventeen hundred people enrolled. If an assembly is called over five hundred people are left with no place to go.

"Second, If the time of each student and faculty member is computed to be worth fifty cents; that is to say, about the same as that of an unskilled laborer, the total value of an hour taken from classwork is in the neighborhood of $900.00. Any one who asks for a special assembly of the student body should ask himself the question: 'Is the enterprise which I have in mind worth $900 to the student body?' and if not, he should not ask for an assembly.

"I sincerely hope that every one will see the justice of my disinclination to call the students from their classes. I believe that they are here primarily to attend the classes in which they are enrolled; consequently, I shall call them from those classes only when the occasion is very important.

"Sincerely,
A. LINSCHEID, President."

A WAY TO KEEP THE ALLEYS LOOKING FIT

As a sample of civic attractiveness one might look at the alley between the home of Mrs. Mabel Brown at 101 West Seventeenth Street and Mrs. Melissa Bills just south on Broadway. It is as well kept as most of the lawns, is bordered by flowers and is distinctly attractive. All those that pass that way are attracted by the neatness and wonder if the presence of men in a home have anything to do with keeping places improved.

EATS ANYTHING ON THE TABLE AND FEELS FINE

Miss Stella Simon Says She Was on Verge of Nervous Prostration but was Completely Restored When She Took Tanlac.

"At the time I started taking Tanlac," said Miss Stella Simon, 1431 Missouri Ave., St. Louis, Mo., "I honestly believe I was on the verge of nervous prostration. At times I was so tired and nervous I was hysterical. My appetite was very poor and I could not eat and digest enough to keep up my strength. I could not get any restful sleep and got up mornings as tired as when I retired. Finally I became alarmed over my condition and was worried and discouraged all the time.

"Tanic gave me entire relief and now I can eat anything on the table and sleep fine at night. I am feeling like a new person and am glad to tell my experiences with Tanlac for I think it is just grand."

Tanic is sold by all good druggists. (adv.)

famous device that is nationally advertised which:—

Makes every baking day a "lucky day". Cooks whole meals in the oven, unwatched, while you enjoy yourself miles away. Makes canning easier by the new oven method, and preserves in canned fruits and vegetables a delicious fresh-from-the-garden taste.

A modern Gas Range like the "Direct Action", is an economical investment, because it saves you money, time, cooking worries and fatigue. To retain an old type Range, because it isn't worn out, is unprofitable. It cheats you every day, by burning too much gas, often producing "unlucky results", and requiring a perpetual oven-watching-slavery.
